On the Assam-Meghalaya Inter-State boundary differences, it was informed to the Union Home Minister that as bilateral efforts have failed to bring about a mutually acceptable solution, the Meghalaya State Legislative Assembly had passed a unanimous Resolution urging upon the Centre to constitute a Boundary Commission to define the inter-state boundary between Assam and Meghalaya, having regard to the Constitutional provisions, relevant notifications and maps as well as historical, ethnic and linguistic linkages. The much awaited bridge over Simsang river located at Williamnagar town finally saw the light of day when the bridge was inaugurated with much fanfare by Chief Minister Dr. Mukul Sangma in the presence of PWD Minister Sniawbhalang Dhar and Social Welfare Minister and local MLA Debora Marak on April 4.

The bridge spans a total of 203.29 metres, making it the longest bridge in Meghalaya to be constructed by the State PWD, which was initially sanctioned at Rs. 1.4365 crore on March 25, 1986. The construction process dragged on for 30 years due to several reasons. However, despite many hurdles and inclement weather during the working season, the bridge was finally completed in March this year.

The construction of the bridge is significant as it is the only connecting link for several villages across the Simsang river. The bridge is also a connecting link from Williamnagar to Chokpot in South Garo Hills. It is in this connection that a foundation stone for a new road project from Williamnagar to Chokpot via Cherangre was also laid by the Chief Minister on the occasion. Simultaneously, the Chief Minister also unveiled the foundation for ADB sponsored building of Green Yard Secondary School, under "Supporting Human Capital Development in Meghalaya" project.

Addressing the gathering on the occasion, the Chief Minister while recalling the "unpleasant" past history of the bridge and the untold hardships that the people on the other side of river had to face, expressed his happiness to share the joy of the people of the area. He lauded the team of engineers from the Department for their "out of the box" approach to ensure the completion of the bridge.

Highlighting on the number of programmes being initiated by the State Government for promoting sustainable livelihood among the people, including Bamboo, Agar and Ramie Plantations, the Chief Minister stressed on the importance of connectivity with allweather roads for the success of these programmes.

He also urged appealed to the people to be generous in donating lands for construction of roads so that there would be no unnecessary delay in completing road projects in the process of acquisition of lands.

The Chief Minister also expressed his concern and questioned as to why the area remained the "hot bed of militancy", despite the Government's efforts to stop militancy and repeated calls to the militants to come for dialogue. He also appealed to the people to come together as community and extend their support to the Government in bringing them back to the mainstream. Later, the Chief Minister also visited Greenyard Secondary School to inspect the site for construction of new building funded by ADB.

Dhar, who attended as a guest of honour along with Social Welfare Minister Debora Marak, in his brief address expressed his gratitude to the Chief Minister for his tremendous support in ensuring the completion of the project and said that completion of the bridge would enhance business and other social activities in the region.

Common Facility Centre-cum- Handloom production unit at Selsella inaugurated

Chief minister Dr. Mukul Sangma inaugurated the Common Facility Centre cum Handloom Production Unit at Selsella in West Garo Hills in the presence of local MLA and Power Minister Clement Marak on February 18.

It may be mentioned that the Government has embarked upon a programme to establish such production units in different parts of the state to promote handloom production. The Common Facility Centre cum Handloom Production Unit enables and empowers the weavers to set up their own enterprise. This programme was launched in 2013-14 and till date 10 such units have been established in the State out of which, six are in Garo Hills.

Addressing the gathering on the occasion, the Chief Minister said that although weaving is linked to tradition, there is a huge gap between demand and supply and as such it is a great opportunity for livelihood. He therefore reiterated the State Government's commitment to provide a viable opportunity for the women weavers with technology and skill up-gradation.

The Chief Minister recalled that in 2013 the Union Ministry of Textiles had approved a special project for the promotion of weavers in the State which was later adopted for the whole nation. "This was a programme conceptualized to empower women weavers in the State, however, the Union Government has modified the programme and designed it in such a way that will not work", he lamented and asserted that in order to make handloom sector survive we need to have small production centres in the remote rural areas.

He also urged upon the all interested weavers to avail skill upgradation training being given by the government so that it can be taken as a means of livelihood.

The Chief Minister also informed the gathering that the State Government is coming up with a scheme to produce yarn from Ramie fibre, which is grown indigenously in Garo Hills and known as "Kilkra" in local language. Ramie fibre can be used for various apparel and garment production and infused with latest design, he said adding that there is a huge demand for handloom products locally as well as globally.

Power Minister Minister Clement Marak in his brief address said that the Unit would not only help to improve quality of weaving but also provide job opportunities to the people.

Director, Sericulture and Weaving, Bakul Ch. Hajong in his keynote address said that in order to promote weavers, the department has established 72 handloom clusters, of which nine clusters are in Garo Hills. The target is to ensure that our weavers earn a minimum of Rs 5000 per month by the end of 2017- 18, he said, adding that the programme is aimed at raising the earning capabilities of the weavers and provide technology and design facilities.

Meghalaya Chief Minister Dr. Mukul Sangma inaugurated the 132/33, 2x20 MVA Substation at Mendipathar in North Garo Hills on December 22, 2015.

The project was funded by North Eastern Council with a total cost of Rs. 14.5 crore and is one of the most important sub-stations in the State. It is the third substation in Garo Hills after Nongalibbra and Rongkhon substations.

Dedicating the substation to the people of the region after inaugurating and switching on the transformer breaker and 33 KV feeder breakers, the Chief Minister said that the project is a comprehensive effort of all concerned and an offshoot of the design of the Government to address the issues of backwardness and poverty and respond to the needs of the people as per the demands of time. The Chief Minister also informed that this year out of RIDF fund Rs.112 crore has been earmarked for Ganol hydro project “because we want to complete it on time”, saying if we delay the completion of project due to lack of fund flow, we end up losing lot of money in interests, which he said is “bad economics”. Therefore when we start projects, “do it fast, complete it and reap returns”, he said quoting from the scripture Isaiah 65:21. Regarding the long talked about Transmission Line from Agia to Nongalibbra, he said Rs. 43 crore was invested for the project, because without it the Mendipathar substation would not have been possible.

Recalling the frequent power failures in Garo Hills because of the fault somewhere in the transmission line from Mawlai to Nongalibbra he said that this transmission line was so overaged that it could no longer respond to the demands of time, but it could not be renovated because there was no alternative line. “But today because of the investment that we have made gives us the luxury of having options and we will only improve the overall power scenario”, he added.

He also said that with uninterrupted fund flow, Ganol project is expected to be completed by 2017, adding that this will be fastest power project in the country as far as hydro power project is concerned. “After investing so much of money Ganol project has to be sustainable and to make it sustainable we have to involve a lot of people in dialogue process to preserve all the vegetative coverage”, he added saying that in order to have a sustained power supply we need to ensure sustained sources of water and highlighted on the Government’s programme of sustainable livelihood through sustainable ecology.
